Reading Time: 10 minutes.

Total Marks: 200

1. Scientific calculators are permitted.
2. The use of computers is not permitted.
3. No written notes or printed materials are permitted.
4. Mobile telephones are not permitted.
5. All examination sheets must be returned at the end of the examination.
6. The exam is a series of 40 questions, which relate to lecture material and its application. It is worth 200 marks and you should budget about 4 to 5 minutes per question.
7. Questions 1 through 36 should be answered by circling all of the letters of all correct answers. Each question may have zero or more correct answers.
8. Full marks will be awarded for a question when you circle all the correct answers and you do not circle any incorrect answers.
9. Part marks will be awarded if you circle some of the correct answers and you do not circle any incorrect answers.
10. No marks will be awarded if any of the incorrect answers are circled. Negative marks are not applied.
11. To get the best possible mark you should only circle answers you are sure are correct. Never circle an answer if you are not sure because it might be an incorrect answer.
12. If you wish to change your answer, then you must put a cross through the incorrectly circled choice. Questions 37 through 40 must be answered in the spaced provided in this paper. For extra space, if required for questions 37 through 40, use the unprinted page sides in this paper.
